

The Hurricane Ridge Kennel Club March 2021

Dog Eared Journal

Hurricane Ridge Kennel Club is an AKC-licensed all-breed club and non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the interests of dog owners and breeders of purebred dogs.

So you're wondering, what happened to the promised newsletter? That darn Jo Chinn. She said she'd send a newsletter every month.

Jo Chinn speaks: It's really hard to send a newsletter when there's no news!

No news? What happened to the January obedience and rally trials?

Jo Chinn speaks: We had to cancel. Three factors influenced our decisions. 1)Covid. 2)Family medical issues among the key players. 3)logistical problems .

No news? What about those Oregon club who have planned to hold an All-Breed on "OUR" dates?

Jo Chinn speaks: They are proceeding with their plans, and Lorraine is continuing to pursue all avenues of appeal with the AKC. She will keep us all informed via email.

No news? What's happening with the ARO?

Jo Chinn speaks, yet again: No news. The city is not issuing event permits yet. Chris Cornell is in constant communication with them. We are continuing to plan for the event.

No news? What about the All-Breed?

Jo Chinn speaks: Same thing as the All-Breed. The school district is not renting facilities at this time. Chris Cornell is in constant communication with them. We are continuing to plan for the event. Joe Larson, the Event Chair, is in contact with the judges and we are moving forward. Jan Garrison is collecting donations for the trophy fund. The Crepe Guy is on board for food.

So what happened to all those New Years' Resolutions from our dogs?

Jo Chinn responds: Aha. Read on...

New Years' Resolutions...already broken?

Lynn Duke's dogs set some lofty dogs for 2021. Wonder if they have kept their promises?

Mitzie said: I will stop eating my owner's glasses!

Rico vowed: I will stop giving guests my wet (from chewing) hedgehog as a gift!

New Years' Resolutions...already broken?

Valley and Flo Chinn considered the laundry list of possible New Years Resolutions they could promise to keep and then promptly break.

Their friend Gary Simpson even sent Flo a suggestion: "I will not catch birds on the ground that my mom and dad are trying to shoot." Flo just couldn't agree to that.

Valley considered giving up counter-surfing, but decided to wait until Lent for that one.

Finally they settled on: "We will not be totally freaked out by small, strange, stuffed bears that other dogs deposit in the hallway. We will encourage Valley's soon-to-be-born-babies to be brave like us, too."
